Juan Moles Sánchez

Adrià López-Baucells

Dear Colleagues,

On behalf of the Evaluation Committee, we are pleased to announce the winner of the 2019 Diversity Travel Award.

The Awards have been granted to:

Juan Moles Sánchez, a Postdoctoral fellow at Harvard University, USA. His work is focused on the study of the diversity and systematics of Antarctic heterobranchs (Mollusca: Gastropoda), and the application of next-generation sequencing to answer deep phylogenomic questions. The Award consists of 500 Swiss Francs to support him to attend the “World Congress of Malacology 2019” conference.

Adrià López-Baucells, a PhD student at University of Salford, UK. His work is focused on the study of sustainable land use and bat conservation worldwide. The Award consists of 500 Swiss Francs to support him to attend the “18th IBRC International Bat Research Conferences” conference.

2019 TRAVEL AWARD WINNERS

We would like to thank all the applicants for submitting their applications, describing the diverse and fascinating range of topics that they are investigating.
