Study aims
This survey will help us to understand the impact of sudden bereavement. The results will be used to improve services for bereaved people.

How to complete the survey
In Part 1 the responses are by ticking boxes and should take about 5-10 minutes. In Part 2 the responses are given in free text boxes for you to provide as much detail as you wish, and usually takes between 5 and 15 minutes.

How to save progress and take a break
Clicking the Save button gives you instructions on how to return later. The program asks for your email address to send you a 'return ticket' link. Your email address will not be added to the data and this protects your confidentiality.

Anonymity
The survey is anonymous. We can't link answers to you unless you give your name. If you do give your name or email we will not pass this to any organisation outside our research team. All data will be collected and stored in accordance with the Data Protection Act 1998.

In case of difficulty
Completing this questionnaire may not be easy for some people and some questions may evoke difficult memories. For a list of sources of support please bookmark the study website: www.ucl.ac.uk/psychiatry/bereavementstudy

Further information
If you have questions about the questionnaire click on this link (to email address: bereavementstudy@ucl.ac.uk) to contact us.

Question 140
After the death did it feel as though support was available to other people close to that person but not to yourself?
For example this may have been because:
• you hid your grief
• others were not aware that you had a close relationship with this person
• the support you wanted was not available

1.1.16  Future work and feedback

You have reached the end of the questionnaire. Thank you very much for your time.

We are also inviting some people who have completed this survey to participate in a face-to-face interview. This gives us a chance to hear more about your personal experiences of bereavement.

The interview lasts up to an hour. In London these will be held at UCL (Torrington Place, London WC1), but arrangements for sites outside London are to be confirmed. Further information is available on the study website: www.ucl.ac.uk/psychiatry/bereavementstudy

Question 141
If you would be willing to be contacted about volunteering for an interview please type your email address and/or telephone number in the space below. These details will not be passed on to anyone outside this research team.

Please note that if you do volunteer for an interview that you are not committed to this, and can withdraw this decision at any time.

Email and/or telephone: (Free text)

Question 142 - Future work:

We also hope to conduct a follow-up study in a few years’ time to explore whether there are any changes in how people adjust to a bereavement over time.

If you are willing to be contacted about participating in this future study please supply contact details which will be reliable for a period of approximately 5 years.

If your email address is likely to change you may prefer to give a postal address or telephone number. If we contact you by post the envelope will be marked only with your name and address, and will be labelled Private and Confidential. If you know your NHS number this is also a reliable way of our team being able to contact you by post.

Volunteering for this follow-up study is entirely optional. If you do provide contact details but later decide not to participate, you are free to withdraw at any time. You do not have to give any reason for withdrawing.

Email/Telephone/Postal address/NHS number: (Free text)

Thank you for participating in this questionnaire.

Question 143 - Communication of the study’s results:

Once the results have been analysed they will be available on the UCL Bereavement Study website. If you would like the results to be emailed to you please type your email address in the box below.

Please note that:
1) Your email address will not be visible to others when the study results are emailed out.
2) When the responses to this questionnaire are analysed your email address will be removed so your anonymity is protected.
3) Your name or contact details will not be passed on to anyone outside this research team.

Email: (Free text)

Clicking on the Finish button (bottom right) will end your questionnaire and bring you directly to the university's counselling service website. This is your opportunity to go back and review your responses if you wish to.
