Message from the Editor-in-Chief

It is with profound pleasure that we celebrate this phase of the International Journal of Financial Studies. I need to extend a warm welcome to the audience and our contributors and to thank our authors and anonymous reviewers, all of whom have volunteered to contribute to the success of IJFS. IJFS is focused on research examining the interplay among financial issues. We welcome contributions that demonstrate both theoretical and empirical potential. IJFS provides an ideal forum for exchange of information on financial issues. I close this message by inviting everyone to submit their exciting research to IJFS.
